Profile

Hello, I'm Carl Linus Hedlund. 26 year old from Oslo, Norway. A front-end developer with a solid education from Noroff. Experienced with the latest cutting edge development tools and procedures. Good knowledge in HTML, CSS (Tailwind, Sass) and React.

During my studies, I have developed skills in creating engaging and responsive user interfaces using modern technologies.

I have also gained some experience on my own with PostgreSQL databases, which has given me a broader understanding of data storage and management. I am passionate about learning and expanding my expertise in front-end development, and I am now seeking opportunities to contribute to exciting projects and further develop as a developer.

Hobbies

In addition to my professional pursuits, I believe in the importance of nurturing hobbies and interests that help me maintain a balanced and clear mindset. One of my passions lies in outdoor activities, where I find solace and rejuvenation. Fishing, hiking, and hunting allow me to immerse myself in nature, providing a sense of tranquility and exploration that revitalizes my mind.

Furthermore, I am an ardent sports enthusiast. Alpine skiing and football are two activities that I actively engage in, as they not only keep me physically fit but also provide a platform for personal growth, teamwork, and friendly competition. These sports serve as a means for me to unwind, challenge myself, and cultivate discipline beyond the confines of my professional life.
